This year's guest speaker at the Gippsland Centre for Art and Design Postgraduate Winter Symposium is leading Australian photographer Siri Hayes. Documenting landscape around Merri Creek in Melbourne, Wilson's Promontory, Phillip Island and the Latrobe Valley, Hayes' work explores the romantic sublime in Australian landscapes.

Siri Hayes was artist in residence at Gippsland Centre for Art and Design in 2008, producing an iconic series of photographs which documented the landscape around the Latrobe Valley. The exhibition and residency were made possible by a collaboration between Monash University Museum of Art (MUMA) and Gippsland Centre for Art and Design.
